Celebrate God's Saving Grace Through Repentance, Contrition, Penance and Absolution

Our loving God understands our human weakness. That is one reason he became human. He is calling us to full life with his Church and with himself. Congratulations to the Second Grade Students who will make their First Reconciliation this week. Your faith community at Saint Peter is here to support you and thrilled to be sharing in this exciting time of your faith journey. The sacrament is truly a celebration because God sets us free from sin and eternal death. This wonderful sacrament of divine love and mercy is a stepping-stone to holiness and perfection because 'God called us out of darkness into His wonderful light' 1 Peter 2:9 May God continue to bless you on your faith journey!

The faithful are to be reminded that the dispensation to attend Sunday Mass, and Holy Days of Obligation, remains in place for the foreseeable future until you are notified otherwise. Those who are at high risk, especially the elderly and those with pre-existing health conditions are to be strongly advised to refrain from Mass attendance out of concern for their own well-being and out of Christian charity for others. Pandemic precautions continue to be in force, including the wearing of masks/facial coverings, maintaining proper social distancing and the sanitization of the church.

There will be no Tridentine Mass today.

There will be no daily Masses or confessions until after November 18.

During the month of November we express our gratitude for the saints, witnesses to the Gospel who challenge us to find our own path to holiness. We are grateful for the lives of all who have gone before us to meet the Lord, especially those we know and hold dear. We thank our veterans who have offered their lives on our behalf. And of course, in the United States, there is Thanksgiving Day, a holiday that is all about gratitude.

St. Peter website is up and running! Signing up is EASY!

Is it OK to donate my body to science?

Yes, and here is some background. Christ makes possible a new and eternal creation. He "will change our mortal bodies to be like his in glory, for he is risen, the firstborn from the dead" (Order of Christian Funerals, 219).

Resurrection, then, is not a return to life as we know it. The body is not a resuscitated one like Lazarus' (see John 11), but a resurrected one like Christ, transformed and glorified. Christians traditionally revere the body—while alive, and at the time of death—because we are created in God's image. Some reason that such respect for the body prevents donating it to science, but that's not the opinion of the Church.

"Catholic health care institutions should encourage and provide the means whereby those who wish to do so may arrange for the donation of their organs and bodily tissue, for ethically legitimate purposes, so that they may be used for donation and research after death" (The Ethical and Religious Directives for Catholic Health Care Services, United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, 63).

It's advisable to make this decision to donate in consultation with family members or health care providers. Many, echoing St. John Paul II, consider such a self-giving act in death "with a view to offering a chance of health and even of life itself to the sick who sometimes have no other hope" (The Gospel of Life [Evangelium Vitae], 86) as a supreme manifestation of what it means to be Christian!
