“When he comes, the Spirit of truth, he will guide you to all truth.” –John 16:13

The Mass readings for Trinity Sunday Year C emphasize the themes of the relationship between the Father, Son, and Holy Spirit, the concepts of lover, beloved, and love, the mutual indwelling within the Trinity, and the significance of the Trinity in our lives. The readings highlight the eternal nature of God, the wonders of God’s creation, the hope that faith brings, and Jesus’ promise of the Spirit of truth. They invite us to contemplate the profound mystery of the Trinity and recognize its relevance and impact in our daily lives.

Special blessings and safe travels to those participating in Catholic Heart Work Camp. The group will be leaving for Nashville, Tennessee on Saturday, June 21 and returning on Saturday, June 28.

Dear Padre

June 15, 2025

What does the Church teach about respect for the body after death? Is burial the most respectful? It's certainly the most expensive. What about donating your body to science? Or cremation? If someone is cremated, can the ashes be kept respectfully by a family member, or do they have to be buried?

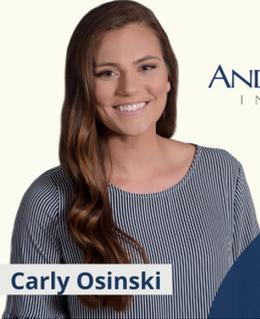

Your question serves as a summation of current practice and exposes the real-life dilemma and choices facing loved ones: "How can I be respectful and at the same time practical?"

Catholics believe that the body of the deceased must be respected and not simply disposed of without care or concern. Current practice allows for burial, cremation, and the donation of the body to science, and choices depend in large part on tradition, culture, and economic circumstances. If someone chooses to donate to medical science, it is with the understanding that the body will be cremated or properly buried. If cremation is the chosen option, proper burial of the cremains in a sacred place is required.

All of this assumes an uneventful passing of the deceased person. It does not account for war, disease, or disaster. When faced with ordinary, rather than extraordinary, circumstances, loved ones have a real opportunity to be grateful and thankful for the chance to mourn, grieve, and show respect for the person. Unfortunately, that is not always the case in today's world. ●
